Organizational History

The Haverhill Woman's Club was founded in October 1904, as the result of the interest of Mrs. Herbert B. Bachelder and Mrs. Stanley H. Homes. They met often to discuss the desirability of forming a Haverhill Womans' Club. They invited a few women to their discussions. Meetings were held in the Public Library, where organizational plans were completed in 1905. Mrs. Bachelder was elected President, an office she held for five years. Mrs. Clara Hills was elected Secretary. Club membership was limited to 50.

The name of the new organization was "The Hannah Dustin Mother's Club," but the word "Mother" was soon dropped in order to make all Haverhill women eligible for membership, whether they were mothers or not. The club became a member of the State Federation of Womens' Clubs in 1905. In 1910, the club joined the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The first meeting in the YWCA lecture room was on March 11, 1909, and the club continued to meet there for many years. Current events were given at each meeting. On September 15, 1911, it was voted to change the name to "Haverhill Woman's Club." This was done because some people thought that the club was a society of the descendants of Hannah Dustin.

On February 9, 1915, the club was incorporated. It was organized to study literature, civic and moral questions, and subjects relating to the welfare of the home, city, state, and nation. Charity was one of the club's main missions. During its long existence, the club presented scholarships to Haverhill's high school graduates, helped the needy with food collections, visited nursing homes, volunteered in the city schools, and planted trees in the city square. Members were eager to advance education. They led evening classes in the public schools for immigrant women.

During World War II, members represented the club in registering and assigning applicants to classes for Civilian Defense, doing Red Cross work, serving as Air Raid Wardens, and remaining on duty at the District Warning Center. The members sold defense stamps and purchased War Bonds. The club contributed to the Red Cross, Community Chest, U.S.O., and the War Relief Committee of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. At Christmas time the members made bags for servicemen and veterans at the Rutland Hospital, and gave gifts to Haverhill and Bradford men in the Bedford Hospital.

As of 1997, the club had 20 members and still met regularly.
