Abstract:	The collection contains letters, journals and photographs from the XV Club of Haverhill, Massachusetts, a women's club that took part in regularly scheduled meetings to discuss history and literature.

Organizational History

The XV Club of Haverhill, Massachusetts was established on 5 October 1878, with the mission of "mutual improvement" of its members, all women. The club had an active membership of 15, as indicated by its name. Weekly sessions were held at the homes of its members. Discussions and readings focused on history and each year had a theme.

The XV Club was established with a constitution that outlined the mission and rules of the club. Four official positions were held: president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer and elections were held annually. Annual dues and fees were collected from the members and were used for the benefit of the club.

Scope and Content Note

This collection documents the activities of the XV Club of Haverhill, Massachusetts, from 1878-2013. It has been organized into four series. Series one contains organization documents such as the constitution, reports, and member information. Secretary and treasurer reports include budgets and year in review write-ups. Subseries 1.4 contains information on the history of the club including the founding of the club and reflections. Series two consists of meeting programs, some with agendas. Series three comprises journals, newspaper clippings, letters, and various other documents relating to the XV Club. Series four contains photographs.
